

OVERVIEW OF HISTORIC PRESERVATION

DCP 4000

3 Credits

Spring 2022

Instructor:

Cleary Larkin, Ph.D.
clarkin@ufl.edu

Mondays

Period 6-7

(12:50 pm – 2:45 pm)

RNK 230

This course explores historic preservation and cultural heritage conservation through the lens of the world's great cities. Students will examine the major challenges, such as development, conflict and climate change, that threaten the future of historic urban heritage. Students will examine cultural heritage policies and regulations at the local, national and international scale to assess solutions for preservation of global heritage.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

- Acquire familiarity with the origins, history, and development of the cultural heritage conservation (global) and historic preservation movement (American).
- Understand the basic philosophical principles that have shaped cultural heritage conservation.
- Gain an understanding of the evolution of the world's great cities evolved and their conservation.
- Examine the policies, regulations, and guidelines governing the conservation of heritage in different domestic and international contexts.
- Examine current and future challenges to conserving urban heritage.